

J. E. BAMBERGER GOES TO HIS FINAL RECORD

THIS COMMUNITY, this state and the metal mining West and Eastern mining and financial circles was profoundly shocked ten days ago when the news was flashed that Jacob E. Bamberger had finally succumbed to the injuries he received in an automobile accident while touring the battle-scarred fields of France about a year ago. He passed away at his apartments in the Hotel Utah on the 19th and was buried from the Masonic temple on the 22d by his brother members of Mount Moriah Lodge, No. 2, of which deceased had been an honored member for 54 years. He was in his seventy-sixth year, and is survived by his widow, three sons—Ernest, Clarence G. and Joseph J.—and a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Allen, wife of Major Charles J. Allen. He also is survived by a brother, Loius E. Bamberger of Venice, California, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Simon Bamberger, widow of Utah's war-time governor.

Jacob E. Bamberger for a great many years was one of the live-wire units in the metal mining industry of this region. He acquired large interests in Tintic, in Park City and other famous metal mining districts of this and other states and, like his brother Simon, was ever on the alert to take a hand in anything that would legitimately foster and advance his home state's best interests, whether they related to mining, smelting, oil or business pursuits. Mr. Bamberger was a most prominent and worth-while citizen of Utah and he loved his state; so deep was that love that it is said of him that it was his chief desire, while undergoing treatment in France, that he be brought home to pass his final days. The state's condolences go out to his surviving family and relatives.
